

THE BENEFITS OF OPENNESS IN ORGANIZATIONAL LEVELS A NECESSITY IN NEW WORLD

Today , the world face has changed and in this new context , the openness is a basic advantage in all organizations in world . But the openness and clarity in all aspects of society may have proponents and opponents. In spite of the general thinking , the western communities opponent the closeness and intend to preserve the closeness of society , because of non-responsiveness in social aspects including the social , economic and other aspects. In this case , the main challenge is how to implement the openness in spite of the governments tendency to the closeness of community . One significant manifestation of this closeness is in open movement of people and materials , so some governments strive to enforce the strict regulations for limiting these openness .Although the history shown the great benefits of openness for people in all the world for example the fall of Berlin Wall ,but isolating of nations is prevalent yet and the governments thinks that they can preserve the society by protecting the borders and strict regulations against immigrants . There is paradox in world, the Asian Countries direct their decisions and procedures toward the openness such as open business and commercial agreements so that can benefit from the new modern potentials to enhance their economy . To support the openness in society, in first step it is required to resolve mind barriers to remove the withstanding against open society, this objective will be achieved using the wise and correct management in organizations and in society in general.

Prof. Minglan Murphy
Editor in Chie